DO AND DON'T ON A CV

DO

- Make your cv clear, neat and tidy. Get somebody to check your spelling and grammar.
- Put your name, mail, phone number so they can contact you
- Use positive language. Use power words such as, manager, coordinated, motivated, supervised and achieved.

DON'T

- Copy from sample CV's on Internet (try to be original)
- Don't lie to employers
- Include anything that might discriminate against you such as date of birth, marital status, gender or disability
- Make your CV more than 2 page long. This is very important things.

How to make your educational choices?

#Follow your dreams and Inner instincts, don't do something that everyone else is doing, be unique, make researches about your own character.

#Before you will make the definitive decision, try many things and look where you can contribute the best.

#If you have 2 or 3 choices of profession and you have to pick up one of it then pick up the one that is most necessary in your country, the one that your country needs it.

#Always accept advises from people that crossed through the same.

#Take some personally tests that will show you what kind of person you are, because that's how you fit as a person

#Even if you will fail the first time then don't give up, try again and again.

#Don't be afraid to choose something crazy because there is quote that says "The people who are enough crazy to say that they can change the world are the ones who usually do it".

Working in another country

1. Be sure of one's motives.
2. Be prepared for a long haul, it can takes you to find a job and become established in a new country
3. Research aspects of life and business in the desired country

4. Meet people who know it and establish contact there
5. Visit the country and meet people who work there
6. Make one self known to companies that are active moving into that country
7. Stick at it
